McNamara Flies To Saigon Area

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara is on his way to Saigon for a fresh look at the war in Viet Nam, hoping to determine what can be done to reverse the tide of Communist successes.

Accompanied by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, McNamara left Washington by jet early today on his fourth fact-finding mission to Viet Nam. He was to stop en route in Hawaii. Before leaving, McNamara told newsmen the situation in Viet Nam was grave and that new and heavier weapons, "obviously of Chinese manufacture," had been captured from the guerrillas. He mentioned heavy-duty machine guns, more sophisticated mines and 75mm recoilless artillery.

"There has been evidence that in the last six months North Vietnamese support of the Communist Viet Cong has increased," McNamara said.

One of the topics McNamara may raise in talks with Premier Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh is whether to carry the war to North Viet Nam soil. The proposal has advocates in Saigon and Washington.

McNamara declined to discuss such a tactic, except to refer to statements by President Johnson and Secretary of State

Dean Rusk discounting the possibility of an assault on the north.

Khanh said Thursday in a statement "the best defense is offense" but added: "The escalation of the war to include North Viet Nam is a matter of the greatest importance, and therefore not one to which I can give a 'yes' or 'no' answer at this time."

Khanh said he has evidence Red Chinese advisers are serving with the guerrillas but did not elaborate.

In a Pentagon statement, McNamara called his trip "a further affirmation of the U.S. commitment to furnish whatever economic aid and military training and logistical support is needed by the South Vietnamese to suppress this insurgency, and to continue to do so for whatever period is required."

During the news conference, however, McNamara appeared to be sticking to his earlier intention to pull out most of the 15,500 U.S. military advisers in Viet Nam by the end of next year.

Soviet Seeks Trade Pact

Long-Term Affair With U.S. Sought

MOSCOW (AP) — First Deputy Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin told an American government delegation today that the Kremlin wants a long-term trade agreement with the United States.

The delegation, led by U.S. Undersecretary of Commerce Clarence D. Martin, signed an agreement Thursday with the Soviets permitting extra-large American ships to discharge wheat in the Black Sea port of Odessa.

Martin reported: "They are very interested in developing trade with the United States. They want trade agreements of the long-term variety."

Martin said Kosygin told them the Soviet Union can supply anything that Western Europe is sending the United States and at lower prices.

Richard Funkhauser, U.S. Embassy economic counselor, accompanied the delegation to the Kremlin.

Funkhauser said the Russians are especially interested in the sale of manufacturing licenses to the United States.

Kosygin indicated the Soviet government might also be interested in buying some licenses from the United States. He gave no specific example.

The United States never has been enthusiastic about signing a government-to-government trade agreement. It feels trade is strictly a matter for private enterprise, provided the Western embargo on strategic items is not violated.

However, Martin commented that he felt Kosygin's proposals are worth exploring.

Martin said he understood Kosygin was the ranking government official in Moscow at the moment. Premier Khrushchev is believed to be starting a month-long holiday on the Black Sea.

B-I-E DAY PROCLAMATION — Mayor Ben H. Gordon signs a proclamation declaring Mar. 13 as Business-Industry-Education Day in Circleville. Looking on is Dale DeLong, president of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce which is sponsoring the special event here. More than 330 city-county school teachers will be guests of local business, industry and professional groups during the day. The majority of planning for the project has been completed by the Chamber committee in charge.

Nixon Would Run Again As GOP Veep Candidate

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said today he is ready to accept the Republican nomination for the same post again.

He stressed that he is not a candidate for either the presidential or vice presidential nomination but that he would do what his party asked.

Nixon, appearing on the NBC-TV "Today" program, was asked by interviewer Hugh Downs whether he would accept second spot on the ticket.

"I know you are going to expect me to say 'no' because I have been vice president for eight years and have run for president," Nixon replied.

"But I don't go along with the current talk among the present candidates for downgrading the vice presidency. I think it is time to upgrade it. And as far as I'm concerned I'm making it clear that I'm not a candidate for president and not a candidate for vice president but I will do whatever my party asks me to do and I feel everybody else should, too."

"The vice presidency, as Lyndon Johnson's present position proves today, is as important as the presidency."

Nixon said that the big surprise in the New Hampshire primary next Tuesday may be on the Democratic rather than the Republican side.

He said there were so many contenders in the Republican presidential primary that no-body could win a decisive victory.

Nixon forecast a large write-in vote for Atty. Robert F. Kennedy for the Democratic vice presidential nomination — one that might start a groundswell that would propel him into second spot on the ticket.

Hoffa Sentencing Coming Thursday

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Teamsters President James R. Hoffa will be sentenced next Thursday as a result of his conviction on a charge that he tried to fix a federal court jury.

He faces a maximum of 10 years in prison and $10,000 in fines.

U.S. Judge Frank Wilson set the date for sentencing today, at the same time overruling a defense motion for a mistrial on grounds that the government had kept Hoffa, those on trial with him and their lawyers under illegal watch during the trial.

18 Missing In Ship Blast

Tanker Blows Up; 26 Crewmen Safe

ANACORTES, Wash. (AP) — An empty tanker exploded and sank only 15 miles from its destination early today off Whidbey Island in Puget Sound.

Coast Guard rescue craft picked up 26 survivors, leaving 18 of the 44-man crew from the tanker Bunker Hill unaccounted for. The survivors, badly burned and cut, were taken to hospitals here and at Whidbey Island Naval Air Station.

Cause of the disaster is not yet known.

A crewman, Sheldon Phillips of Seattle, said the 504-foot tanker was bound for the Sheli refinery at Anacortes from Tacoma, Wash., when it was raked by a series of explosions shortly after 4 a.m. The vessel sank quickly about 15 miles from Anacortes and 80 miles north of Seattle.

Phillips said he was washing tanks when the blast occurred. John Caughlan, a Seattle radio newsman, flying over the scene, in Rosario Strait, reported that debris was scattered over a wide area "and the explosion must have been terrific."

The Bunker Hill went down about two hours before dawn. Survival time in Puget Sound's frigid waters in the winter is estimated at little more than an hour.

The tanker was owned by the Keystone Tankship Corp., Wilmington, Del., and carried petroleum products for the Shell Oil Co.

New Indictment Hits Fire Chief

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The list of persons facing charges in the Halloween explosion that killed 74 persons has moved back to seven with the reindictment of two men.

Fire Chief Arnold W. Phillips was reindicted Thursday by a Marion County grand jury for failure to inspect the State Fairgrounds Coliseum before the explosion. Floyd James, who was concession manager at the coliseum, was reindicted for manslaughter.

Judge Saul I. Rabb had dismissed earlier indictments of the pair on technical grounds.

MacArthur OK After Surgery

UN Peace Force Lacks Approval

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant is having trouble finding troops for the U.N. peace force for Cyprus.

In two weeks of informal discussions with possible contributor nations, Thant has failed to recruit any generally acceptable contingent other than part of the British force now on Cyprus, diplomatic sources said today.

Principals in the dispute have agreed to troops from six countries—Brazil, Ireland, Sweden, Canada, Finland and Austria—but none of these countries has given any firm pledge.

Continuing violence on the Mediterranean island emphasized the task awaiting the international police force, which was unanimously authorized by the Security Council Wednesday.

A Greek Cypriot shepherd was killed in clashes near the north coast port of Kyrenia on Thursday. For three hours gunfire echoed in the olive groves until British troops arranged a sunset truce.

A British patrol fired 20 shots at Turkish Cypriots to protect some Greek Cypriot youngsters under siege in a school in the village of Karmi, under St. Hilarion castle, a medieval fortress 2,400 feet above the Mediterranean.

The Turks moved on the village from the strongpoint to relieve the neighboring Turkish Cypriot village of Temblos, a mile farther down the mountain.

Turkish Cypriots also opened fire from the minaret of a mosque at Kazaphani, six miles east of Karmi.

In Nicosia, a bomb wrecked the first floor of the Turkish Cypriot legislative chamber.

Five Turks at a nearby coffee shop were cut by flying glass. Each side accused the other of planting the bomb. The building is only 50 yards inside the Turkish quarter.

Cyril Packard, Britain's special envoy to Cyprus, predicted weeks probably will go by before the U.N. peace force arrives. "We came very quickly," Packard told correspondents in Nicosia. "I hope the other United Nations contingents come as quickly but somewhat doubt it."

Britain wants to pull out the bulk of the reinforcements it flew to Cyprus to enforce a cease-fire after the Christmas-time fighting which followed proposals by the Greek Cypriots to end the Turkish minority's veto over major legislation.

Grady sent Betty Jo to call an ambulance. She called the operator, was immediately connected with an ambulance service, and, although very much distraught by this time, was able to give accurate directions to the farm.

Bolender was given emergency first aid at Berger Hospital and then rushed to University Hospital, Columbus.

He was reported in "satisfactory" condition by authorities there. He suffered four fractured ribs, a punctured lung and severe lacerations.

RFK Puts Brakes On Veep Drive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy is suddenly trying to put the brakes on a fast-moving drive to press him forward as President Johnson's running mate in November.

Described as genuinely surprised at the campaign's momentum, Kennedy issued a statement through a spokesman Thursday saying he wishes "to discourage any efforts on his behalf in New Hampshire or elsewhere."

The vice presidential choice, he said, should be left to Johnson and the Democratic convention. He did not say whether he would accept second place on the ticket if it were offered.

Identical Twins In Similar Crashes

LAFAYETTE, Colo. (AP) — Dwight and David Peterson, 18-year-old identical twins, lost control of their cars which crashed over an embankment, one after the other, Thursday.

Dwight, driving his mother's car, lost control on the gravel road and it swerved over the bank. David was right behind in his own car. State patrolman A.L. Ramsey said the boy told him he seemed to freeze at the wheel and his car, too, plunged off the road.

Dwight suffered a cut finger but his twin escaped injury.

No Cancer Is Found

Old Warrior Loses His Gall Bladder

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army surgeons removed Gen. Douglas MacArthur's gall bladder today and said they found no evidence of any cancer.

The post-operative condition of the 84-year-old warrior and hero of two world wars was described as "satisfactory."

The surgeons reported after a lengthy operation beginning at 8:00 a.m. EST that they also had removed gall stones from the common bile duct, a key passageway in the abdomen.

Reporters were given the first details by Brig. Gen. Henry S. Murphey, commanding officer of the Walter Reed General Hospital. He said the operation lasted three hours.

Murphey said the details had been furnished to him by Lt. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, the army surgeon general who performed the surgery, and it was Heaton's statement that Murphey read.

Heaton told The Associated Press Thursday there is a possibility that MacArthur's "obstructive jaundice of unknown origin"—which has caused the yellowing of the general's skin—is due only to lodging of a gallstone in the so-called common bile duct.

The latter is a tube that receives bile—a body fluid needed for the digestion of food in the intestine—from smaller tubes leading from both the gall bladder and the liver.

Gallstones, formed by the crystallization of bile in the gall bladder, is a fairly common human ailment—occurring in about 25 per cent of women and 10 per cent of men prior to age 60.

Sometimes one or more of the stones—which range in size from that of a pea to that of a hen's egg—can stray from the gall bladder and become lodged in either the duct leading from the gall bladder to the common bile duct, or in this latter duct itself.

If a stone gets lodged in the common bile duct, the entire flow of bile from both the gall bladder and the liver can be blocked. The backing up of bile into the blood stream is one of the possible causes of jaundice.

Heaton indicated that surgical removal of a stone from the duct and removal of the pear-shaped gall bladder itself is a relatively simple procedure.

However, while Heaton did not say so, an obstruction in the bile-carrying system also could be caused by a cancer involving either the gall bladder, one of the ducts, the head of the pancreas which lies close to the common bile duct, or the liver. Cancer in those areas is usually inoperable.

Once Around Roundtown

PIGEON exterminators were back at the courthouse today.

Workers were busy putting a chemical substance on ledges on top of the building most frequented by "our feathered friends" in an effort to curb the heavily populated pests.

A spokesman for the firm said that they had treated roof areas of the courthouse several weeks ago—apparently without too much success, because hundreds of the birds can still be counted—if a census were taken.

THE CREST stage of the Scioto River is falling short of a predicted depth of 19 feet. At noon today the river level had reached 13.72 feet and rising "very slowly," U.S. Weather Bureau officials, who predicted the 19-foot crest stage, said that "more rain soaked into the ground than they had expected."

Pastor, Wife Welcomed Back Home

Congregation members of the EUB Churches in Ashville and Robtown conducted a welcome home reception last night for the Rev. John Morgan and his wife.

The Morgans had spent the past three weeks visiting in the Holy Land and other places of interest. Members of their congregation met them at the Columbus airport last night.

A caravan escorted them back to their home and a welcoming party was held at the Ashville Church. A covered dish dinner was observed.

The Morgans reported a most enjoyable trip.

Monkey House Aide Shuns Ticklish Job

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — James Eisele, a keeper in the monkey house at the zoo, wants someone who is not ticklish assigned to one of his duties.

He explained to authorities Thursday that several times a week he must squeeze between the glass partition and the bars on the cage of Bamboo II, the gorilla, to clean the area. Everytime he shows up for the task, Bamboo pokes a finger into his ribs and tickles him, Eisele complained.

One-Two Weather Punch Fades in Ohio

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The heavy rains and high winds that blasted Ohio with a one-two punch abated today as residents surveyed damages left behind by the pre-spring storm.

At least one death was attributed to the storm which began late Wednesday with torrential rains and was followed Thursday by wind gusts nearing 100 miles an hour in some areas.

Raymond Newton, 55, Zanesville glass plant worker, fell nearly 70 feet to his death while attempting to attach more guide wires to a swaying television tower.

Northwest Ohio got the worst of the high winds. The southern and central counties bore the brunt of rainfalls that set records in some areas.

The State Geological Survey office at Cedar Point said winds were clocked there at 96 miles an hour. Damages at an amusement park operated by the Cedar Point Corp. were estimated at $250,000.

Widespread damage also was reported in the Toledo, Findlay and Cleveland areas. There were numerous reports of fallen power lines and trees.

In Cleveland, where winds were clocked at 68 m.p.h., a four-block section of St. Clair Avenue was blocked off while debris from a partially built skyscraper was cleared.

Winds caused damage estimated at $50,000 at the Executive Club in Cleveland's Woodmere suburb. A roof blown from a nearby apartment building crashed into the structure.

Movie screens were toppled at two drive-ins in suburban Cleveland, and the roof was lifted from the Post Office on Snow Road in Brook Park.

The winds followed thunderstorms which ended early Thursday. They dumped 3.27 inches of rain in the Columbus area for a 24-hour March record. More than 2½ inches of rain soaked Athens County while Cincinnati and many Southeast Ohio communities received more than three inches.

The Hocking and Ohio rivers neared flood stage, but Army Engineers figured both would crest below that mark.

For a time, high waters from other streams blocked about 50 highways in scattered areas of Southern Ohio.

The second snow storm of the week swept areas from the northern Rockies into the northern Midwest today but weather in most other parts of the country appeared near normal.

The snow belt extended from eastern Montana through the Dakotas and northern Nebraska and headed into extreme north-west Iowa and southwest Minnesota. Snow depths of four inches were reported in Rapid City, S.D. Similar amounts were indicated in other parts of the Midwest as the storm moved eastward to the Mississippi Valley.

Little Girl Saves Life of Grandfather

The life of Byron Bolender, prominent Washington Twp. farmer probably was saved last night by his quick-witted, 10-year-old granddaughter.

Bolender was working in a self-unloading wagon when he accidentally backed into the rotary beater on the discharge end of the vehicle.

He was flipped into the air onto a moving chain that delivers silage to the distributing beaters.

His granddaughter, Betty Jo Bolender, who helps with the feeding every night, was in the barn when he was hit by the beaters. She immediately realized something was wrong, ran out of the barn just in time to see her grandfather's feet near the beaters.

SHE FIRST rushed to the tractor to turn the power to the wagon off. She then climbed into the wagon to see if she could help. Her grandfather told her to call the farm hand, Aaron Grady, to help disentangle him from the machinery.

Grady sent Betty Jo to call an ambulance. She called the operator, was immediately connected with an ambulance service, and, although very much distraught by this time, was able to give accurate directions to the farm.

Bolender was given emergency first aid at Berger Hospital and then rushed to University Hospital, Columbus.

Liz Taylor Free Again

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (AP) — An uncontested Mexican divorce appeared today to have cleared the way for Elizabeth Taylor to make Richard Burton her fifth husband.

Judge Arcadio Estrada granted the brunette film actress her freedom from singer Eddie Fisher Thursday because Fisher had not contested the divorce suit she filed in Puerto Vallarta Jan. 14.

The judge said his decree permitted both Miss Taylor and Fisher to remarry.

Miss Taylor was in Toronto with the Welsh actor, who is appearing there in "Hamlet." He and Miss Taylor eluded newsmen after the divorce was announced.

Burton's wife, Sybil, got a divorce in Puerto Vallarta in December.

No Cancer Is Found

Old Warrior Loses His Gall Bladder

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army surgeons removed Gen. Douglas MacArthur's gall bladder today and said they found no evidence of any cancer.

The post-operative condition of the 84-year-old warrior and hero of two world wars was described as "satisfactory."

The surgeons reported after a lengthy operation beginning at 8:00 a.m. EST that they also had removed gall stones from the common bile duct, a key passageway in the abdomen.

Reporters were given the first details by Brig. Gen. Henry S. Murphey, commanding officer of the Walter Reed General Hospital. He said the operation lasted three hours.

Murphey said the details had been furnished to him by Lt. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, the army surgeon general who performed the surgery, and it was Heaton's statement that Murphey read.

Heaton told The Associated Press Thursday there is a possibility that MacArthur's "obstructive jaundice of unknown origin"—which has caused the yellowing of the general's skin—is due only to lodging of a gallstone in the so-called common bile duct.

The latter is a tube that receives bile—a body fluid needed for the digestion of food in the intestine—from smaller tubes leading from both the gall bladder and the liver.

Gallstones, formed by the crystallization of bile in the gall bladder, is a fairly common human ailment—occurring in about 25 per cent of women and 10 per cent of men prior to age 60.

Sometimes one or more of the stones—which range in size from that of a pea to that of a hen's egg—can stray from the gall bladder and become lodged in either the duct leading from the gall bladder to the common bile duct, or in this latter duct itself.

If a stone gets lodged in the common bile duct, the entire flow of bile from both the gall bladder and the liver can be blocked. The backing up of bile into the blood stream is one of the possible causes of jaundice.

Heaton indicated that surgical removal of a stone from the duct and removal of the pear-shaped gall bladder itself is a relatively simple procedure.

However, while Heaton did not say so, an obstruction in the bile-carrying system also could be caused by a cancer involving either the gall bladder, one of the ducts, the head of the pancreas which lies close to the common bile duct, or the liver. Cancer in those areas is usually inoperable.

Chief of Police Frowns On Phone Party Line

FOSTER, R.I. (AP) — The town council has decided to seek funds at this month's town meeting to get Police Chief Edmund F. Maher Jr. off a seven-party telephone line and onto a private line.

The chief often has confidential complaints—but how confidential can you get on a seven-party line?

Solons Quiet On Pay Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders of both parties are doing their best to ease a $10,000 pay raise for members of Congress through the House with a minimum of fuss.

The big raise, part of a $545-million pay boost package for 1.7 million federal workers, already has cleared the Rules Committee and is scheduled for floor action Wednesday.

Its way was smoothed further Thursday when the Republican Policy Committee, which normally stakes out the GOP position on major legislation, decided to remain silent on it.

The big hope of most members who support the bill is that on final passage Wednesday they can also remain officially unrecorded by avoiding a roll call and sending it to the Senate by voice vote.

SCHOOL BOND ISSUE DISCUSSION — These members of the Circleville Rotary Club formed several panels yesterday for discussion on a positive approach to the Circleville School Bond issue. Following a round of final reports, the Rotary body voted a unanimous endorsement of the proposal which will be voted on here at the May 5 primary.

Local School Bond Issue Endorsed by Rotary Club

The Circleville Rotary Club, meeting in regular session yesterday, voted for unanimous endorsement of the Circleville School Bond Issue which will be up for vote at the May 5 primary.

Prior to the Rotary endorsement, a special program on the bond issue was presented by Robert L. Brehmer Jr., president of the Circleville Board of Education.

In his talk, Brehmer emphasized the "positive approach" to the coming issue. He presented this question: "What is the most significant, positive statement in favor of the proposed bond issue?"

Rotarians at each of several tables were given a period of time to discuss the question.

Here are some of the statements that resulted:

"From a business and professional standpoint, we cannot afford to vote no."

"Your community can do no more for you than you can do for your community."

"The local real estate tax base is the only base under our present system to keep local control and a voice in the school program."

"Our leaders of tomorrow are dependent on the education they receive today."

"It is the wisest investment that can be made for the benefit of young people and the community of Circleville."

"To provide an educational system that will effectively prepare the youth of Circleville for roles as responsible adults in the future."

"Passage of the school bond issue will eliminate three old 'fire traps' — vote a little for a lot."

"A good school system attracts industry and helps to keep present industry."

"Your investment in education today will reap dividends tomorrow."

"Supplying funds to build needed school classrooms and facilities is the sole responsibility of the local school district. So we must pass a bond issue to get the needed school buildings."

The Teays Valley Athletic Booster Club met in regular session Monday evening in the high school, with 16 members present.

Roy Binion, president, expressed appreciation in behalf of Booster members Benis Lutz and Marion Waites, to those helping during the Teays Valley Sectional Tournament.

Don Coon reported on construction progress of the food booth. Most of the labor and some of the materials have been donated.

A trophy will be awarded this year's varsity basketball team for "Outstanding Achievement." It will be presented at the carry-in basketball banquet scheduled 6:30 p. m. Mar. 14 in the school cafeteria.

Each family will bring a basket, including one meat dish and table service. Rolls, coffee and milk will be furnished by the Boosters. Table service will be provided for the honored guests.

The group discussed possibilities of sponsoring the District Softball tournament in July. This will be studied further and discussed at a later date.

Following the meeting, members viewed the new booster booth that is being constructed at the school.

The annual Walnut Township PTA Cafeteria Supper is scheduled Mar. 13, with serving slated from 5 to 7:30 p. m. A band concert, puppet show and musical variety show will follow the meal.

The menu lists Scalloped chicken and noodles, hot chicken sandwiches, ham and weiner sandwiches, fruit, vegetables, potato salad, cottage cheese, baked beans, homemade cake and pie, ice cream, milk, coffee and tea.

The Rev. William Bensch of the Lockbourne Lutheran Church conducted chapel services last Friday in the Ashville Elementary School.

It was incorrectly reported this past week that Mrs. Anna Essick, mother of Earl Essick, was confined to Mercy Hospital. She is confined in Doctor's Hospital in Columbus.

The Bastian Funeral Home ambulance moved Amanda Higgins to the Crites Rest Home in Circleville on Feb. 25.

Honored guest of the Ashville Kiwanis Club on Feb. 25 was Richard Petty and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Petty.

Richard is a member of the Ashville Boy Scout Troop 159. He recently received his Eagle Scout Award.

Dr. John Starr gave an interesting talk on "Kids, Safety and Kiwanis."

Everett Beers, a guest of Siebert Duvall, has applied for membership. Forest Brown was a guest from the Circleville Club. Also attending was an inter-club from London.

The club was to host the Teays Valley Varsity Basketball team on Tuesday.

A chicken dinner is planned Mar. 10 at Tink's.

The Teays Valley Youth Baseball League met at the Ashville Council House last week with President Marvin Hicks presiding.

President Hicks asked Roy Binion to check on incorporation papers and Jim Irwin to check on insurance for the teams for the coming season. A balance of $821.88 was reported by Margaret Hicks, treasurer.

A new rule this year will allow the head umpire to settle disputed plays. The official's decision will be final.

It was decided that pitchers be placed in a separate group and managers draw names from a hat. Remaining players are to be selected according to age.

Once teams are selected no trading will be permitted. This may cause some hardship where brothers are on separate teams. However, the manager would be responsible for getting players to practice. It was also decided that if a manager desires that his own son play on his team he must so state before names are drawn.

The group adopted a starting time for little league games of not later than 7:10 p. m. and that each team must have a minimum of seven players in order to compete.

If one team fails to have minimum required players available, the game is automatically forfeited to the other team. Also, no inning may start after 8:30 p. m. except for a tie score in which case the game may be completed regardless of the time element.

President Hicks appointed a committee to determine what equipment is available, what is needed and the manner for disposing of old equipment.

The next meeting was set for 7:30 p. m. Mar. 12 at the Council House. Those desiring to manage a team must be present at this meeting.

The Circleville Methodist Youth Fellowship has extended an invitation to the Ashville Methodist Youth Fellowship to join them 7 p. m. Sunday at Circleville to view the movie, "A Man Called Peter."

Twenty ladies of the Ashville Women's Civic Club will be appearing on the Dean Miller Show 9 a. m. Monday to promote their annual style show to be held the following evening in Teays Valley High School.

The second meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Ashville - Harrison Volunteer Fire Department was held Feb. 25 at the fire house with 11 members present.

Three ladies from the Hamilton Twp. Auxiliary were on hand to discuss by-laws and distributed books explaining how to form a state auxiliary organization. They were Mary Van Gundy, Angela Adkins and Helen Hayes.

A cherry dessert, nuts and coffee were served by Mrs. Andy Ward and Mrs. Bill Lockard. The next regular meeting will be Mar. 24.

NEW YORK (AP)—Regis Toomey is celebrating this month his 35th anniversary as a cop.

Over those years he has served as patrolman, detective, uniformed man, plainclothesman, captain and commissioner. He often has taken leave of the force to be a private eye, a chief investigator, an insurance investigator and a newspaper reporter.

After all this experience, Toomey today is a mere detective sergeant, running errands for that rich, glamorous, girl-chasing, intrepid captain of homicide, Amos Burke, who weekly solves a case on ABC's "Burke's Law."

Toomey, an open-faced man, with white hair and twinkling blue eyes is a performer who never has objected seriously to Hollywood's type-casting. It has worked out fine for him. When Hollywood producers need a cop, they automatically ask for Regis Toomey.

"I've worked almost steadily since 1929," the actor said. "Once in awhile I've been cast as a villain, but mostly I've been a policeman, although sometimes a bad one."

He played his first policeman in "Alibi," with Chester Morris in 1929, the first all-talking gangster movie. Since then he has done 225 movies.

"Burke's Law" is his fifth television series, and he's been an officer in them all. He has also done guest shots in more than 135 shows.

"It's been a good, busy life," he said complacently. "But once in a while it would have been nice if I could have gotten the girl at the end."

"Burke's Law" has proved one of the season's more popular series this season and will return for another year of happy homicide.

Sargent Shriver will not be able to keep his "Meet the Press" date on NBC Sunday... Ed Sullivan has Steve Lawrence, a smash in Broadway's new musical "What Makes Sammy Run?" doing some songs on Sunday's show...

Comedian Jerry Van Dyke, who disappeared quietly from "The Judy Garland Show" will play a dramatic role—his first—on The March 26 "Perry Mason."

Ed McMahon has NBC's permission to continue as host on "Missing Links" when it moves to ABC. But ABC is considering Dick Clark for the sub. The latter has a contract and must be paid even after his short-lived game show, "The Object Is" disappears.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—French President Charles de Gaulle's step-by-step rebuffs to the United States and Britain are not new. The only difference between De Gaulle now and a few years ago is that he is stepping faster.

His basic policy—his assertion of French independence from American leadership—was already ready French policy before he was called back to office as premier in June 1958. But he has truly broadened it.

The Associated Press reported from London Thursday night that diplomatic sources said his envoys in various capitals are openly suggesting Western European nations disassociate themselves from the United States in every way possible.

A month after he took office six years ago he announced France would not accept a nuclear test-ban treaty unless it was linked with a disarmament inspection system. This, of course, was a dream of the future.

He said France would make itself a nuclear power. But a year before he became premier French Defense Minister Charles De Gaulle, a Gaullist, said France would never accept a ban imposed by its allies against French manufacture of nuclear weapons.

He said "we have need of America but America also has need of us."

So De Gaulle was only repeating what was already policy and last year, when he refused to join the American-Soviet-British limited nuclear test-ban treaty, he was only restating an old position.

But De Gaulle for a good while after taking office—he became president for a seven-term in 1959—didn't badger the United States as much as he did later for one obvious, and one possible, reason.

The obvious reason was that he had his hands full trying to bring to peaceful conclusion the Algerian rebellion which had France split in half. He didn't succeed in that until 1962.

It is possible De Gaulle was reluctant to have been as defiant or unpleasant with President Eisenhower, from 1958 to 1961, as he was from 1961 until now with President Kennedy and Johnson.

Eisenhower was an international hero and De Gaulle might have injured himself in an entanglement with the man who led the liberation of Europe. Kennedy and Johnson were unknowns when De Gaulle went to work on them.

Nevertheless, he did badger Eisenhower, too. In 1959 he suggested that France, by destroying the nuclear monopoly of the United States and the Soviet Union, would create a third force in the world and provide "equilibrium."

Also in 1959 he made clear France wanted no part of having its armies integrated with its neighbors' in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. He said France would command its own armies. In 1960 France tested its first atomic bomb in the Sahara.

It seemed to come as a surprise to some this year that De Gaulle was stretching across the Atlantic to open up new ties with Latin America, even arranging to visit some of the countries there.

But he had suggested to 20 ambassadors from Latin-American nations in 1961 that France and their countries establish a "united and renovated Latin world." So what he is saying now is repetition.

He increased the pace of his independence last year in a triple stroke: by refusing to join the nuclear test-ban treaty, banning Britain from the European Common Market, and proposing the neutralization of Viet Nam.

He offered French help to the very country which France had held as a colony since the 19th century and from which it was driven out in 1954 because it lacked the military strength to hold it.

Johnson was hardly in office before De Gaulle hit him by recognizing Red China. He said this was just being realistic.

And he said there could be no peace in Southeast Asia unless China was a party agreeing to it.

Malibu 4-Door Sedan

Chevelle 300 6-Passenger Station Wagon

Chevelle balanced performance is best!

Passing, cornering, threading through traffic, sudden stops—Chevelle excels all around! Chevrolet's new surprise package has what it takes to meet any driving challenge: Six or V8 engines, hefty brakes, Full Coil suspension—and a trim size that makes the most of them!

We didn't just cook up a batch of engines for Chevelle and call it performance. You can get performance plenty—standard 120-hp Six or 195-hp V8 for starters—and optional at extra cost there's a 155-hp Six, a 220-hp V8, even a new 327-cu.-in. V8! But Chevelle's performance means more.

Size, for instance. Chevelle's a foot shorter than the big cars. And the space Chevelle saves in size comes off the ends, not the middle. So it rides like you want a car to ride—comfortably—on a 115-inch wheelbase.

To give you the most out of this engine performance and riding comfort, Chevelle lets you choose Powerglide*, 4-speed manual* or 3-speed manual transmission.

And knowing it would strike the right note with a lot of different people, we gave Chevelle 11 models—in three series. Knowing how people like the custom touch, we wrote out a long list of extra-cost options. What's keeping you from a test drive? Certainly not your Chevrolet dealer!

WASHINGTON (AP)—French President Charles de Gaulle's step-by-step rebuffs to the United States and Britain are not new. The only difference between De Gaulle now and a few years ago is that he is stepping faster.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary Ohio's weather:

Only a small segment of Ohio, the area immediately along Lake Erie, remained under cloudy skies early today.

Clear skies prevailed over the rest of the state as a high pressure center covering the eastern half of the nation moved rapidly eastward.

At 6 a.m., Toledo had 21 degrees and partly cloudy skies, Cleveland 30 and cloudy, Columbus 26 and fair and Cincinnati 25 and fair.

Considerable sunshine and mild temperatures were anticipated for Ohio today, followed by increasing cloudiness tonight.

Scattered showers are likely over the northern counties early Saturday with partly cloudy conditions expected over the entire state.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECAST

NORTHERN OHIO—Temperatures will average near normal. Normal high 42-43, normal low 24-28. Near normal except cooler about Tuesday. Precipitation will be above normal, with one-half to one inch total as showers tonight or early Saturday, again Sunday and Monday.

SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO—Temperatures will average two to seven degrees above normal. Normal high 45-53, normal low 27-33. Mild over weekend, cooler about first of week, warming again by midweek.

Total rainfall probably will average 1-2 inches in showers probably occurring over weekend, again about midweek.

was called back to office as premier in June 1958. But he has truly broadened it.

The Associated Press reported from London Thursday night that diplomatic sources said his envoys in various capitals are openly suggesting Western European nations disassociate themselves from the United States in every way possible.

A month after he took office six years ago he announced France would not accept a nuclear test-ban treaty unless it was linked with a disarmament inspection system. This, of course, was a dream of the future.

He said France would make itself a nuclear power. But a year before he became premier French Defense Minister Charles De Gaulle, a Gaullist, said France would never accept a ban imposed by its allies against French manufacture of nuclear weapons.

He said "we have need of America but America also has need of us."

So De Gaulle was only repeating what was already policy and last year, when he refused to join the American-Soviet-British limited nuclear test-ban treaty, he was only restating an old position.

But De Gaulle for a good while after taking office—he became president for a seven-term in 1959—didn't badger the United States as much as he did later for one obvious, and one possible, reason.

The obvious reason was that he had his hands full trying to bring to peaceful conclusion the Algerian rebellion which had France split in half. He didn't succeed in that until 1962.

It is possible De Gaulle was reluctant to have been as defiant or unpleasant with President Eisenhower, from 1958 to 1961, as he was from 1961 until now with President Kennedy and Johnson.

Eisenhower was an international hero and De Gaulle might have injured himself in an entanglement with the man who led the liberation of Europe. Kennedy and Johnson were unknowns when De Gaulle went to work on them.

Nevertheless, he did badger Eisenhower, too. In 1959 he suggested that France, by destroying the nuclear monopoly of the United States and the Soviet Union, would create a third force in the world and provide "equilibrium."

Also in 1959 he made clear France wanted no part of having its armies integrated with its neighbors' in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. He said France would command its own armies. In 1960 France tested its first atomic bomb in the Sahara.

It seemed to come as a surprise to some this year that De Gaulle was stretching across the Atlantic to open up new ties with Latin America, even arranging to visit some of the countries there.

But he had suggested to 20 ambassadors from Latin-American nations in 1961 that France and their countries establish a "united and renovated Latin world." So what he is saying now is repetition.

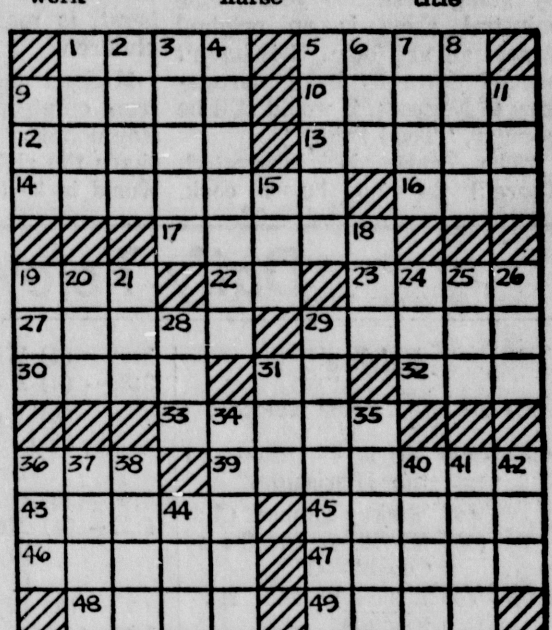

He increased the pace of his independence last year in a triple stroke: by refusing to join the nuclear test-ban treaty, banning Britain from the European Common Market, and proposing the neutralization of Viet Nam.

He offered French help to the very country which France had held as a colony since the 19th century and from which it was driven out in 1954 because it lacked the military strength to hold it.

Johnson was hardly in office before De Gaulle hit him by recognizing Red China. He said this was just being realistic. And he said there could be no peace in Southeast Asia unless China was a party agreeing to it.

CHEVELLE! by CHEVROLET—a great highway performer

Malibu 4-Door Sedan

Malibu Super Sport Coupe

Malibu Super Sport Convertible

Chevelle 300 6-Passenger Station Wagon

Chevelle balanced performance is best!

Passing, cornering, threading through traffic, sudden stops—Chevelle excels all around! Chevrolet's new surprise package has what it takes to meet any driving challenge: Six or V8 engines, hefty brakes, Full Coil suspension—and a trim size that makes the most of them!

We didn't just cook up a batch of engines for Chevelle and call it performance. You can get performance aplenty—standard 120-hp Six or 195-hp V8 for starters—and optional at extra cost there's a 155-hp Six, a 220-hp V8, even a new 327-cu.-in. V8! But Chevelle's performance means more.

Size, for instance. Chevelle's a foot shorter than the big cars. And the space Chevelle saves in size comes off the ends, not the middle. So it rides like you want a car to ride—comfortably—on a 115-inch wheelbase.

To give you the most out of this engine performance and riding comfort, Chevelle lets you choose Powerglide*, 4-speed manual* or 3-speed manual transmission.

And knowing it would strike the right note with a lot of different people, we gave Chevelle 11 models—in three series. Knowing how people like the custom touch, we wrote out a long list of extra-cost options. What's keeping you from a test drive? Certainly not your Chevrolet dealer!

Todd Jr. Eyes Dad's Shoes

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Michael Todd Jr., has set out to fill the shoes of the man he admires most—his father.

The late Mike Todd, one of America's most colorful showmen, won his first big success with a production at the 1939 New York World's Fair of "The Hot Mikado," a jazz version of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta.

His son is hoping to add to the family name in the same place. He is producing a modernized minstrel show at this year's New York World's Fair.

"We're breaking new ground by going back 100 years. The minstrel show is an original American art form. If it hadn't bogged down by being derogatory to Negroes, it would still be popular," Todd said.

"The cast is integrated. There'll be no burnt cork. Everybody comes with his own face. The humor will be up-to-date."

His words had the flavor of his famous father's bombastic personality, but Michael makes no attempt to imitate his father's pitchman eloquence.

Mike smoked 20 cigars a day and during high school organized a college of bricklaying. He was a verbal fountain all his life, a flamboyant mixture of carnival and culture.

Michael smokes two to three cigars a day, speaks softly, likes to read philosophy. At 29 he holds a degree from Amherst, is married and has five children.

Michael doesn't have to start from empty pockets. He and his stepmother, Elizabeth Taylor, share the rights to "Around the World in 80 Days," a Todd-produced film which is one of the all-time money makers.

A note of filial admiration creeps into Michael's voice whenever he mentions his father.

"To my dad, money was only something to make and spend, not to save," he said.

"He is the only man I know who lost a racetrack while betting on the horses. He bought a track in California and lost it the same year gambling on horses at another track."

"He was a perfect father, an absolute rock. He recognized that I was an individual, just as he knew he was an individual, and he never tried to force me into any pattern."

"He firmed up for me a set of values I hope will keep me happy the rest of my life, and I don't know what more a father can do for a son."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

PEOPLE WHO chortle at practical jokes should like a story Jerry Beatty brought back from Columbus, Ohio. It seems that in the days when beer trucks were drawn by great big horses, a local brewery employed a driver known as Spider. Spider, fond of consuming the product he was engaged in delivering, fell sound asleep in his driver's seat one hot afternoon. The horses knew the way back to the brewery and proceeded thither under their own steam, coming to a halt before the closed iron gates. Spider's fellow-workers thereupon unhitched the horses, let them through the gates, reclosed them, then rehitched the horses to the wagon shafts, which they had run through the gates. When Spider woke up, accordingly, he found the horses inside the gates, and the wagon outside. This confounded him so, he had three more beers, and went back to sleep.

An astonishing conversation, allegedly overheard at a Miami Beach luxury motel, involved two girl friends who met accidentally after a year of separation. "So what's new?" asked one. "A terrible thing," answered the other. "My doctor just told me I seem to be turning into a man." The first girl nodded absently and inquired mildly, "So what else is new?"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Are you one of those people who, when he awakes in the morning, ritualistically performs a personal health examination before he embarks on a new day's work? There are many who do. Spurred by fears and anxieties of many non-existent personal conditions, they begin their scrutiny with a careful examination of the eyes. They inspect them for bloodshot appearance, and then routinely examine the tongue for color, texture and moisture. The body is then superficially felt for any "lumps" that may have arisen during the night. Bleeding from the gums is, of course, a diagnostic symptom of self-induced concern.

If, then, one's name is not ready for the obituary column, a deep breath of satisfaction is taken with the hopeful anticipation of another day of survival.

It does sound preposterous, yet thousands of people "die" their lives rather than live them. They live in constant fear of acquiring diseases that they probably will never get.

This is a pathetic waste of energy and an unnecessary source of anxiety, in the light of the hope that lies in present-day accomplishments of American medicine. Such unnecessary fears need not thrive in a climate of great scientific progress.

Women rarely — very rarely — develop cancer of the larynx. Some women of Middle Eastern ancestry never develop cancer of the cervix of the uterus (opening to the womb).

A peculiar type of cancer is most prevalent in men of Oriental heritage. Dozens of such unusual cancer "patterns" exist in both sexes, in all ages, in various ethnic groups and in far-flung geographic areas.

From this scientists conclude that the origin of cancer can only be determined by studies in diversified sciences.

An exciting development occurred when the Nobel Prize winner Dr. Albert Szent-Gyorgyi, found a chemical in human tissue that seems to destroy tumors. This substance that retards tumor growth is called "retene" and was discovered with another, "promine," which promotes such growth. The two agents were found to be in balance and seemed to affect all processes of growth and aging.

An interesting finding showed that muscle tendons contained more of the "retarder," retene, thus explaining the rarity of cancer in this tissue.

Large-scale studies have been undertaken in this new field of cancer research.

Retene and promine are being utilized in an effort to find the answer to the higher frequency of cancers in the elderly. Already these chemicals are being applied to other studies such as the healing of wounds and the control of burns, and there's the possibility of their use in the treatment of malignant disease.

There is great encouragement in the rapidly with which new-found information is transmitted from one science to another, in an effort to understand fully the causes and the treatment of malignant disease.

Cubans Make Miami Hum

By John Chamberlain

MIAMI, FLORIDA — A year ago people in Miami and Dade County were grousing and griping about the huge Cuban colony which was resisting federal attempts to disperse it throughout the country. But today fears are being expressed lest too many of the Cubans should decide to pick up and go.

There are still upwards of 80,000 Cubans here, most of whom want to remain until the day, presumably long distant, when they can safely return to their homeland. These Cubans have been building themselves into the Miami economy in a most surprising way. If they were to leave, they would tear a gaping hole in the new South Florida social fabric.

The Cubans are in a score of industries, and what many of them contribute is far from menial. They are in fruit and vegetable canning, they operate garages, they own laundries, they have become canny used car salesmen, they add the authentic Latin note to night clubs, they challenge the hamburger cult with little joints that sell delicious fritas, they have their own press (which should be a "must" with American reporters who presume to keep up with Communist doings in Latin countries), they are rum distillers and importers. And they still willingly do many of the hod — carrying tasks that Americans disdain. If you want oil and gas at a gas station at 4 o'clock in the morning, the chances are that it will be a Cuban who services you, meanwhile using you as a foil for practicing his broken English. You will find, if the conversation goes on, that he was a lawyer back in Havana. And they sell delicious fritas, that have been baked by the ex-manager of a Cuban radio station.

In his economic lunacy, Fidel Castro drove the cream of the Cuban enterprisers into Florida. There is Manolo Arcas, for instance, a great landowner who, in a rapture of misplaced political idealism, helped Castro to power. Arcas was duly despoiled of some three hundred thousand acres. But he got away with enough wealth and knowledge to become an important part of a growing sugar cane and milling industry in the Clewiston region of Florida.

The ex-ruler of the Cuban Navy, Rear Admiral Rodriguez Calderon, now functions as the head of a large Florida fruit canning industry. Mirta de Perales, Havana's most famous hairdresser, has done considerably more than survive in exile with a prosperous beauty salon in Coral Gables.

The Bacardi rum people, who were just about to put up a new building in the Cuban city of Santiago when Castro grabbed all the industry of Oriente Province, have gone ahead with their plans — only the building has gone up on Miami's Biscayne Boulevard.

Three years ago a handful of exiled Cuban violinists started a small supper club for Cubans on this same Biscayne Boulevard. Called Les Violins, the club turned out to be an amusing place because the musicians also did everything else connected with running a restaurant. They waited on the tables, they parked the cars. Their enthusiasm was tremendous and contagious. A couple of them, with bel canto voices, specialized in breaking into song as they served bean soup. The club is now a large and elegant establishment, but the habits and the antics of the musicians haven't changed. Even the cigarette girl is part of the musical entertainment. It means big money for Cubans as Anglo-Saxons pour into the place.

Meanwhile the Miami Cubans are quite cynical about Castro's ability to pick up the economy of Cuba even with trading help from Britain, France and Franco's Spain. I talked with one of them from the Cuban town of Guines, which was once the heart of a thriving tomato crating industry. It would seem to be a simple matter to grow and market a tomato. But the division of labor here is actually quite complicated. Farmers, truckers, lumber dealers and carpenters for the crates, buyers, shippers and money-lenders were all needed to put Guines tomatoes on the market in Florida. When Castro moved in with his "agrarian reform," the truckers, lumbermen, buyers and shippers all vanished. And the farmers stopped raising even for a local market. Castro, incidentally, boasted the other day that Cuba would be producing 11,000,000 eggs a month by 1965. Sounds impressive as a statistic. But there are 6,500,000 people in Cuba—which would mean that each person could count on something less than a couple of eggs a month from a "revived" egg business.

"He is the only man I know who lost a racetrack while betting on the horses. He bought a track in California and lost it the same year gambling on horses at another track.

"He was a perfect father, an absolute rock. He recognized that I was an individual, just as he knew he was an individual, and he never tried to force me into any pattern.

"He firmed up for me a set of values I hope will keep me happy the rest of my life, and I don't know what more a father can do for a son."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

PEOPLE WHO chortle at practical jokes should like a story Jerry Beatty brought back from Columbus, Ohio. It seems that in the days when beer trucks were drawn by great big horses, a local brewery employed a driver known as Spider. Spider, fond of consuming the product he was engaged in delivering, fell sound asleep in his driver's seat one hot afternoon. The horses knew the way back to the brewery and proceeded thither under their own steam, coming to a halt before the closed iron gates. Spider's fellow-workers thereupon unhitched the horses, let them through the gates, reclosed them, then rehitched the horses to the wagon shafts, which they had run through the gates. When Spider woke up, accordingly, he found the horses inside the gates, and the wagon outside. This confounded him so, he had three more beers, and went back to sleep.

An astonishing conversation, allegedly overheard at a Miami Beach luxury motel, involved two girl friends who met accidentally after a year of separation. "So what's new?" asked one. "A terrible thing," answered the other. "My doctor just told me I seem to be turning into a man." The first girl nodded absently and inquired mildly, "So what else is new?"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

Are you one of those people who, when he awakes in the morning, ritualistically performs a personal health examination before he embarks on a new day's work? There are many who do. Spurred by fears and anxieties of many non-existent personal conditions, they begin their scrutiny with a careful examination of the eyes. They inspect them for bloodshot appearance, and then routinely examine the tongue for color, texture and moisture. The body is then superficially felt for any "lumps" that may have arisen during the night. Bleeding from the gums is, of course, a diagnostic symptom of self-induced concern.

If, then, one's name is not ready for the obituary column, a deep breath of satisfaction is taken with the hopeful anticipation of another day of survival.

It does sound preposterous, yet thousands of people "die" their lives rather than live them. They live in constant fear of acquiring diseases that they probably will never get.

This is a pathetic waste of energy and an unnecessary source of anxiety, in the light of the hope that lies in present-day accomplishments of American medicine. Such unnecessary fears need not thrive in a climate of great scientific progress.

Women rarely — very rarely — develop cancer of the larynx. Some women of Middle Eastern ancestry never develop cancer of the cervix of the uterus (opening to the womb).

A peculiar type of cancer is most prevalent in men of Oriental heritage. Dozens of such unusual cancer "patterns" exist in both sexes, in all ages, in various ethnic groups and in far-flung geographic areas.

From this scientists conclude that the origin of cancer can only be determined by studies in diversified sciences.

An exciting development occurred when the Nobel Prize winner Dr. Albert Szent-Gyorgyi, found a chemical in human tissue that seems to destroy tumors. This substance that retards tumor growth is called "retene" and was discovered with another, "promine," which promotes such growth. The two agents were found to be in bal-

Cubans Make Miami Hum

By John Chamberlain

MIAMI, FLORIDA — A year ago people in Miami and Dade County were grousing and griping about the huge Cuban colony which was resisting federal attempts to disperse it throughout the country. But today fears are being expressed lest too many of the Cubans should decide to pick up and go.

There are still upwards of 80,000 Cubans here, most of whom want to remain until the day, presumably long distant, when they can safely return to their homeland. These Cubans have been building themselves into the Miami economy in a most surprising way. If they were to leave, they would tear a gaping hole in the new South Florida social fabric.

The Cubans are in a score of industries, and what many of them contribute is far from menial. They are in fruit and vegetable canning, they operate garages, they own laundries, they have become cannery used car salesmen, they add the authentic Latin note to night clubs, they challenge the hamburger cult with little joints that sell delicious fritas, they have their own press (which should be a "must" with American reporters who presume to keep up with Communist doings in Latin countries), they are rum distillers and importers. And they still willingly do many of the hod — carrying tasks that Americans disdain. If you want oil and gas at a gas station at 4 o'clock in the morning, the chances are that it will be a Cuban who services you, meanwhile using you as a foil for practicing his broken English. You will find, if the conversation goes on, that he was a lawyer back in Havana. And they sell delicious fritas, that have been baked by the ex-manager of a Cuban radio station.

In his economic lunacy, Fidel Castro drove the cream of the Cuban enterprisers into Florida. There is Manolo Arcas, for instance, a great landowner who, in a rapture of misplaced political idealism, helped Castro to power. Arcas was duly despoiled of some three hundred thousand acres. But he got away with enough wealth and knowledge to become an important part of a growing sugar cane and milling industry in the Clewiston region of Florida.

The ex-ruler of the Cuban Navy, Rear Admiral Rodriguez Calderon, now functions as the head of a large Florida fruit canning industry. Mirta de Perales, Havana's most famous hairdresser, has done considerably more than survive in exile with a prosperous beauty salon in Coral Gables.

The Bacardi rum people, who were just about to put up a new building in the Cuban city of Santiago when Castro grabbed all the industry of Oriente Province, have gone ahead with their plans — only the building has gone up on Miami's Biscayne Boulevard.

Three years ago a handful of exiled Cuban violinists started a small supper club for Cubans on this same Biscayne Boulevard. Called Les Violins, the club turned out to be an amusing place because the musicians also did everything else connected with running a restaurant. They waited on the tables, they parked the cars. Their enthusiasm was tremendous—and contagious. A couple of them, with bel canto voices, specialized in breaking into song as they served bean soup. The club is now a large and elegant establishment, but the habits and the antics of the musicians haven't changed. Even the cigarette girl is part of the musical entertainment. It means big money for Cubans as Anglo-Saxons pour into the place.

Meanwhile the Miami Cubans are quite cynical about Castro's ability to pick up the economy of Cuba even with trading help from Britain, France and Franco's Spain. I talked with one of them from the Cuban town of Guines, which was once the heart of a thriving tomato crating industry. It would seem to be a simple matter to grow and market a tomato. But the division of labor here is actually quite complicated. Farmers, truckers, lumber dealers and carpenters for the crates, buyers, shippers and money-lenders were all needed to put Guines tomatoes on the market in Florida. When Castro moved in with his "agrarian reform," the truckers, lumbermen, buyers and shippers all vanished. And the farmers stopped raising even for a local market.

Castro, incidentally, boasted the other day that Cuba would be producing 11,000,000 eggs a month by 1965. Sounds impressive as a statistic. But there are 6,500,000 people in Cuba—which would mean that each person could count on something less than a couple of eggs a month from a "revived" egg business.

THE POWER TO STAY

An anchor seems like dead weight, doesn't it?

But what mariner would sail without it? For an anchor is not dead weight. It commands the tremendous force of gravity in a wild, raging sea. It can grip solid land to fight driving wind or swirling current!

A few men have thought they could go farther faster without religious faith ... until the squalls found them drifting helplessly on bitter shoals!

God gave us forces of motion and progress. We see ... aspire ... achieve.

But the power to go is treacherous without the power to stay.

So God gave us the Truth our churches offer every human heart.

That Truth is man's spiritual grip on the enduring ... the eternal.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church-regu- larly and read your Bible daily.

New Styles In Kitchen Equipment

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

"Utilitarian" used to be an uninspired adjective but designers have been doing their best to change this interpretation. Nowhere is the fact more evident than in the kitchen, where equipment — large and small — is getting decorator styling and, in many cases, a bright touch of color as well.

Consider the refrigerator-freezer, for one example. A new model is designed to fit into your kitchen as if it were custom-made for the spot. How is this achieved? With styling!

The model is engineered so the back fits flush to the wall, presenting a neat built-in look. You can choose it in white or in pink, turquoise, copper or yellow to go with your color scheme of things.

Glass doors decorated with a filigree design give a 30-inch electric range a glamorous look. This is a double-decker design that really utilizes space. It has an eye-level oven as well as a lower oven. The latter pulls out like a drawer.

This four-burner two-oven range comes in white or in a choice of four colors.

The color craze isn't limited to major appliances. It's evident everywhere.

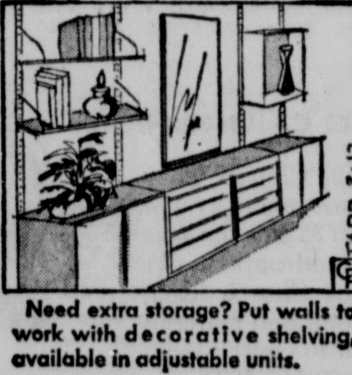

Brightly decorated pots and pans, for example, now stand ready to serve as well as cook foods.

Dish towels, once striped with interest, now bloom with high fashion patterns and are coordinated with matching pot-holders, aprons and even dish cloths.

Kitchen tools, too, are showing handles with both color and pattern.

Practicality has taken on a pretty new look in the kitchen. Let's praise designers for it because bright surroundings make work enjoyable — well almost!

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Be Blunt, Mother!

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of an engagement where the couple has to sneak around like thieves to meet secretly because the boy's parents are opposed to the marriage, and he is afraid to face them with the facts: He swears he loves the girl, yet he has never taken her to a public place, and they have been going together for over a year. She has studied and gone to classes for months to take his religion, but, on Sundays when she sees him in church with his parents, he doesn't dare even to look in her direction. This girl could have her pick of many other boys, but she just sits home and waits for him to sneak away and see her. She is so in love with him it pains me to see her hurt like this. How can I help her?

GIRL'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You do not mention their ages. Or his educational or financial status. This is of utmost importance. If he is still dependent on his parents, announcing his engagement to a girl of whom they disapprove would end all help from them. If he loved the girl enough, and were a man, he'd do just that, and find a way to make it on his own. He is obviously unwilling, unable—or no man. Do your daughter a favor and tell her she is cheapening herself.

DEAR ABBY: My wife has started to talk so loud she is driving me crazy. When I remind her to tone down she starts to speak in almost a whisper, but before long she is yelling again. What should I do? We've been married almost 30 years.

GOING CRAZY

DEAR GOING: Take your wife to a doctor who specializes in disorders of the ear. She could be suffering from a hearing loss and not know it.

DEAR ABBY: What would you have done in a case like this? My daughter-in-law had a birthday coming up, so I asked her in my most pleasant tone, "What would you like for your birthday, dear?" She looked me right in the eye and replied, "Give me the money instead, Mother. Your taste is atrocious!"

STRUCK SPEECHLESS

DEAR STRUCK: I'd have given her a "taste" of an ignored birthday.

CONFIDENTIAL TO EDNA: Yes, I write all my own answers. A ghost writer hasn't a ghost of a chance with me.

PARIS OUTLOOK: U.S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen is being brought home from Paris Saturday for consultations.

Officials said the veteran diplomat won't be expected to be able to explain completely what has gone wrong with American-Franco relations. But they hope he'll be able to shed light on what to expect next from French President Charles de Gaulle.

All JET: Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says the new A1 long-range jet aircraft disclosed by President Johnson is designed for interception missions.

His reply to a news conference questions Thursday was intended to quiet speculation that the 2,000-mile-an-hour plane was designed for use by the Central Intelligence Agency as a spy-plane to replace the famous U2.

CRIME CLIMB: FBI figures show a 10 per cent increase in crime from 1962 to 1963, with crimes against property primarily responsible for the rise.

Auto thefts and larcenies increased 11 per cent and burglaries 9 per cent. The number of aggravated assaults jumped 8 per cent, robberies 5 per cent and murders 1 per cent.

CUBAN: Congress has been told federal investigators have broken a European-American ring attempting to divert contraband U.S. industrial goods to Cuba.

Most details are still secret, pending federal grand jury action in New York in the case of a Dutch exporter-importer arrested last month in the San Francisco Bay area.

Seamen's Church Rites Scheduled in Many Ports

OSLO (AP) — The seaman's home away from home — the Norwegian Seamen's Church — is 100 years old this year.

The centenary will be celebrated in Norway and in the 32 ports all over the globe where the churches are located.

High point of the anniversary year will be the opening of the King Olav Chapel in the new European oil port 25 miles from Rotterdam, the Netherlands, on Sept. 11. Dutch shipowners and industrial leaders provided 65 per cent of the cost.

"We have to move with the ships, build new stations where the traffic has moved on," said a spokesman for the private organization running the churches.

Since World War II, 17 new churches have been built, in ports which did not have one before.

The Lutheran churches serve the 64,000 men operating Norway's huge merchant fleet of about 2,300 ships. Seamen of all nationalities are welcome. The churches provide recreational facilities and organize sightseeing tours, sports events and parties. Newspapers from home are flown in. Every ship arriving in port is visited by a pastor.

About 40 pastors man the stations, together with lay assistants and house mothers. They are a tough and realistic group.

"We have to meet the men as men, and sailors don't take to phonies," said one seamen's pastor.

The work is financed by 3,100 groups in Norway and by the seamen themselves, but this year Parliament has contributed $142,257 as a centenary gift. The 1962 budget was $928,000. Local authorities and organizations around the world also help out with the expenses.

On Norway's national day, May 17, there will be celebrations in the first Norwegian Seamen's church ever built, at Leith, Scotland. A general assembly of the organization will be held in Bergen Aug. 28-31. Representatives of churches in the United States, Britain, West Germany, Sweden and Denmark will take part. King Olav V, high protector of seamen's churches, will be present.

Ports now under consideration for new churches include Port Newark, N.J., where the mission owns a plot; Seattle, Wash., and Vancouver, B.C. Construction of a new church in Trinidad will begin this year.

Viet Cong Using Chinese Red Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said that "there has been evidence that in the last six months North Vietnamese support of the Communist Viet Cong has increased" in South Viet Nam.

At a news conference a dozen hours before he planned to take off on a fact-finding trip to Viet Nam, McNamara said larger-bore weapons than those seen previously in the hands of Communist guerrillas have been introduced. He said they were "obviously of Chinese manufacture."

McNamara, who said the situation in Viet Nam is grave, added that the "volume of support, character of support, and trend of support" provided by North Viet Nam to the Viet Cong would be studied by himself and his top-ranking mission.

Among the Chinese-made weapons that he said have shown up with the Communist forces fighting the U.S.-backed South Vietnamese government are .75-mm recoilless artillery, heavy-duty machineguns, more sophisticated mines, and sabotage devices.

The secretary declined to discuss the question of carrying the war into North Viet Nam, as has been suggested in some quarters.

Seamen's Church Rites Scheduled in Many Ports

OSLO (AP) — The seamen's home away from home, the Norwegian Seamen's Church — is 100 years old this year.

The centenary will be celebrated in Norway and in the 32 ports all over the globe where the churches are located.

High point of the anniversary year will be the opening of the King Olav Chapel in the new European oil port 25 miles from Rotterdam, the Netherlands, on Sept. 11. Dutch shipowners and industrial leaders provided 65 per cent of the cost.

"We have to move with the ships, build new stations where the traffic has moved on," said a spokesman for the private organization running the churches.

Since World War II, 17 new churches have been built, in ports which did not have one before.

The Lutheran churches serve the 64,000 men operating Norway's huge merchant fleet of about 2,300 ships. Seamen of all nationalities are welcome. The churches provide recreational facilities and organize sightseeing tours, sports events and parties. Newspapers from home are flown in. Every ship arriving in port is visited by a pastor.

About 40 pastors man the stations, together with lay assistants and house mothers. They are a tough and realistic group.

"We have to meet the men as men, and sailors don't take to phonies," said one seamen's pastor.

The work is financed by 3,100 groups in Norway and by the seamen themselves, but this year Parliament has contributed $142,257 as a centenary gift. The 1962 budget was $928,000. Local authorities and organizations around the world also help out with the expenses.

On Norway's national day, May 17, there will be celebrations in the first Norwegian Seamen's church ever built, at Leith, Scotland. A general assembly of the organization will be held in Bergen Aug. 28-31. Representatives of churches in the United States, Britain, West Germany, Sweden and Denmark will take part. King Olav V, high protector of seamen's churches, will be present.

Ports now under consideration for new churches include Port Newark, N.J., where the mission owns a plot; Seattle, Wash., and Vancouver, B.C. Construction of a new church in Trinidad will begin this year.

Viet Cong Using Chinese Red Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said that "there has been evidence that in the last six months North Vietnamese support of the Communist Viet Cong has increased" in South Viet Nam.

At a news conference a dozen hours before he planned to take off on a fact-finding trip to Viet Nam, McNamara said larger-bore weapons than those seen previously in the hands of Communist guerrillas have been introduced. He said they were "obviously of Chinese manufacture."

McNamara, who said the situation in Viet Nam is grave, added that the "volume of support, character of support, and trend of support" provided by North Viet Nam to the Viet Cong would be studied by himself and his top-ranking mission.

Among the Chinese-made weapons that he said have shown up with the Communist forces fighting the U.S.-backed South Vietnamese government are .75-mm recoilless artillery, heavy-duty machineguns, more sophisticated mines, and sabotage devices.

The secretary declined to discuss the question of carrying the war into North Viet Nam, as has been suggested in some quarters.

Without this one asset, the U.S. wouldn't be as well off as it is today. We are a free people in a free nation, and I think we should take full advantage of this."

Mona Dawson, senior — "The ability to be able to take orders and obey them, for someday you'll be giving them yourself."

Every Litter Bit Hurts

By PAT QUINCEL and CATHY MCCOLLISTER

Wanted! Litterbugs! Are you one of those who detract from the appearance of Circleville High School? With spring just around the corner it is time to think about this problem.

Officials at CHS would enjoy seeing an end to students' littering the school grounds. It causes many citizens to look upon the school with resentment and wonder what kind of teen-agers comprise our school.

And who can really blame them for that way of thinking? Just take a look around the school grounds after the two lunch periods are over. Candy bar wrappers, potato chip bags, chewing gum wrappers, straws and paper cups have been thrown about carelessly and thoughtlessly by students, even though there are trash containers for the disposing of these items. This littering of CHS grounds and surrounding area should be stopped immediately before more citizens become indignant.

CHS officials are trying to cope with this problem. But they need the cooperation of all students. Only you, the members of Circleville High School, can prevent this. It is your duty to do so, if you have pride and confidence in the school.

The next time, remember this article and "think before you throw."

Grade School News Report

By PAT QUINCEL

NICHOLAS DRIVE

The first grade has been learning about air and wind. They did experiments to discover that air is all around us; is moving; has direction; and can be helpful or harmful.

They wrote stories and listened to poems about the wind.

The second grade at Nicholas Drive is conducting an experiment to see what a seed needs to grow. They have planted four plants, one with soil, sunlight, and water; one with soil and light; one with water and light; and one with soil and water.

The third grade at Nicholas Drive School has been working on paper-mache animals. There are elephants, fawns, lions, giraffes, horses, pigs and a hippopotamus in their animal parade.

In science they have been studying about living and non-living things. They have learned how plants get their minerals from the water in the soil in order to make their food in the green parts of the plant.

In the fourth grade boys and girls have made interesting posters illustrating how power is used in their homes and in their community.

The sixth grade at Nicholas Drive School presented a play entitled "The Wizard of Oz" on Feb. 7, for the other students.

The cast of actors was: Ann Guenther, Steve Thomas, Harry Kocher, Tommy Binkley, Linda Hatfield, Debbie Moore. Plans are now being made by the 6th grade pupils to put on "Peer Gynt" in the near future.

College Paper Resents City Police Role

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP) — Why should Oberlin police act as informants to Oberlin College officials concerning coeds found outside their dormitories after hours?

The Oberlin Review, the weekly campus newspaper, raised this question in an editorial in its latest edition. The editorial also asked why city police should do what the paper described as essentially the college's job.

Donald R. Marquis, Oberlin city manager and police chief, admitted Wednesday that police have been quizzing coeds found out after hours the last four months, then passing the information on to college officials.

"We were requested by college officials to do this," Marquis said. "We are cooperating and I feel that we certainly have the right to make these inquiries and submit the information to the college."

W. Dean Holdeman, college dean of men, declined comment on the newspaper editorial.

The editorial said in part:

"The administration does not seem adverse to using the police to enforce its regulations, and we resent it. College students returning home after hours . . . are merely violating a college rule and are responsible on this account only to themselves and to the college authorities."

Coeds must be in their dormitories by midnight during the week and by 2 a. m. on weekends. There are no regulations on hours for men students.

Students Questioned on Timely Topic

Nowadays so much emphasis is placed on life and what it means to the individual that it is interesting to find out what some of the students at CHS think is most important to them. Here are a few examples.

Paula Lowe, senior — "I think the opportunity to get a good education should not be wasted."

Susie Bennett, freshman — "Church, school, grades, parents and teachers."

Ellen Young, junior — "Democracy, integration and understanding parents."

Doug Dunkel senior — "Happiness, I guess."

Mary Ann Yates freshman — "Happiness is the highest goal anybody should have."

Wayne Winner junior — "Freedom, in the sense that you can do what you please, when you want to, without hurting anyone."

Lois Anderson, senior — "Happiness, friends and family."

Pam Sweeney, junior — "The opportunity to express your own ideas, feelings, and attitudes freely. The freedom we have as American citizens is one thing we should definitely take advantage of. Without this one asset, the U.S. wouldn't be as well off as it is today. We are a free people in a free nation, and I think we should take full advantage of this."

Mona Dawson, senior — "The ability to be able to take orders and obey them, for someday you'll be giving them yourself."

Dorothy Sadler, sophomore — "Happiness, because if you're happy, you'll try to achieve higher goals."

Every Litter Bit Hurts

By PAT QUINCEL and CATHY MCCOLLISTER

Wanted! Litterbugs! Are you one of those who detract from the appearance of Circleville High School? With spring just around the corner it is time to think about this problem.

Officials at CHS would enjoy seeing an end to students' littering the school grounds. It causes many citizens to look upon the school with resentment and wonder what kind of teen-agers comprise our school.

And who can really blame them for that way of thinking? Just take a look around the school grounds after the two lunch periods are over. Candy bar wrappers, potato chip bags, chewing gum wrappers, straws and paper cups have been thrown about carelessly and thoughtlessly by students, even though there are trash containers for the disposing of these items. This littering of CHS grounds and surrounding area should be stopped immediately before more citizens become indignant.

CHS officials are trying to cope with this problem. But they need the cooperation of all students. Only you, the members of Circleville High School, can prevent this. It is your duty to do so, if you have pride and confidence in the school.

The next time, remember this article and "think before you throw."

They wrote stories and listened to poems about the wind.

The second grade at Nicholas Drive is conducting an experiment to see what a seed needs to grow. They have planted four plants, one with soil, sunlight, and water; one with soil and light; one with water and light; and one with soil and water.

The third grade at Nicholas Drive School has been working on paper-mache animals. There are elephants, fawns, lions, giraffes, horses, pigs and a hippopotamus in their animal parade.

In science they have been studying about living and non-living things. They have learned how plants get their minerals from the water in the soil in order to make their food in the green parts of the plant.

In the fourth grade boys and girls have made interesting posters illustrating how power is used in their homes and in their community.

The sixth grade at Nicholas Drive School presented a play entitled "The Wizard of Oz" on Feb. 7, for the other students.

The cast of actors was: Ann Guenther, Steve Thomas, Harry Koche, Tommy Binkley, Linda Hatfield, Debbie Moore.

Catholic First Graders To Go to Public Schools

CINCINNATI (AP) — About 10,000 pupils who would have gone to Roman Catholic parochial schools next September will be attending the first grade in public schools.

The Cincinnati Archdiocese announced Thursday it will discontinue teaching the first grade in its 19-county area in Southwest Ohio because of rising costs and overcrowded parochial classrooms.

The new policy will affect 6,000 first graders in Cincinnati and Hamilton County, 1,500 in Dayton and the remaining 2,500 in Hamilton, Middletown, Springfield, Sidney and other areas.

Public school officials were preparing plans to absorb the additional pupils. Almost all superintendents said they thought they would have to hire more teachers.

The addition of 3,000 pupils into the Cincinnati public schools "presents serious problems," said Supt. Wendell Pierce, but the schools "will continue to provide the best education possible." John Wilson, superintendent of Hamilton County schools, said 3,000 more pupils in the county "probably will mean larger classes" and more teachers will have to be hired.

"I don't look on this as pressure by the parochial school system but as one of the alternatives they had to take," said Middletown Supt. Howard Cromwell. Middletown will get about 150 more first graders and "we'll do our best to accommodate" them, Cromwell said.

Dr. Lester L. Dickey, superintendent of Hamilton city schools, said the added enrollment may require more teachers and in some cases it may be necessary to transport a room of children from one school to another where additional facilities are available.

Archbishop Karl J. Alter made the announcement and said he hoped it "would safeguard the rest of the (parochial) system" from having to drop other grades.

He also said the decision was reached because of low teacher salaries and difficulty in getting qualified lay teachers at the current pay rates.

Ohio Education Official Raps School Fund Policy

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP) — Boards of education expecting state aid this year may feel the financial pinch of State Controlling Board action to keep public school spending within appropriations, says an Ohio Education Association official.

T. G. O'Keefe, OEA executive secretary, expressed shock Thursday night over the policy and told a Port Clinton Education Association meeting:

"This in a sense is a breach of contract and boards of education who have been expecting monies in 1964 may find themselves wanting."

O'Keefe cited legislative action to make up past deficits in welfare and education programs and added:

"We will have to consider an annual session very seriously if the State Controlling Board is going to exercise legislative authority by cutting the school foundation program formula in order to save monies."

Many of Ohio's educational problems, he said, could be solved only through an improved financing program for schools from kindergarten through the 12th grade.

The Controlling Board recently coupled a pledge to make quarterly foundation payments with a plea for schools to live within the $510.5-million legislative appropriation for two years.

Education Supt. E. E. Holt followed up the board action with letters to public school officials. Holt promised prompt certification of the subsidy amounts each school district could expect from the foundation program.

Various state officials termed the action by Holt and the board as an unusual bid to prevent recurrent school subsidy deficits. These deficits totaled $2.5 million last year and $21 million in 1957. The officials said an $8 million deficit appeared likely this year without attempts to prevent over spending.

In 1946, the Department of Justice asked a Senate committee to enact stiffer penalties for spying as a better safeguard for atomic bomb secrets.

Ten years ago—Prime Minister Nehru told Indian businessmen that their country's government intended to raise an enormous fund within the nation in order to eliminate the need of economic aid from the United States.

Five years ago — American actor Fred Stone died in Hollywood at 85.

Catholic First Graders To Go to Public Schools

CINCINNATI (AP) — About 10,000 pupils who would have gone to Roman Catholic parochial schools next September will be attending the first grade in public schools.

The Cincinnati Archdiocese announced Thursday it will discontinue teaching the first grade in its 19-county area in Southwest Ohio because of rising costs and overcrowded parochial classrooms.

The new policy will affect 6,000 first graders in Cincinnati and Hamilton County, 1,500 in Dayton and the remaining 2,500 in Hamilton, Middletown, Springfield, Sidney and other areas.

Public school officials were preparing plans to absorb the additional pupils. Almost all superintendents said they thought they would have to hire more teachers.

The addition of 3,000 pupils into the Cincinnati public schools "presents serious problems," said Supt. Wendell Pierce, but the schools "will continue to provide the best education possible." John Wilson, superintendent of Hamilton County schools, said 3,000 more pupils in the county "probably will mean larger classes" and more teachers will have to be hired.

"I don't look on this as pressure by the parochial school system but as one of the alternatives they had to take," said Middletown Supt. Howard Cromwell. Middletown will get about 150 more first graders and "we'll do our best to accommodate them," Cromwell said.

Dr. Lester L. Dickey, superintendent of Hamilton city schools, said the added enrollment may require more teachers and in some cases it may be necessary to transport a room of children from one school to another where additional facilities are available. Archbishop Karl J. Alter made the announcement and said he hoped it "would safeguard the rest of the (parochial) system" from having to drop other grades.

He also said the decision was reached because of low teacher salaries and difficulty in getting qualified lay teachers at the current pay rates.

Ohio Education Official Raps School Fund Policy

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP) — Boards of education expecting state aid this year may feel the financial pinch of State Controlling Board action to keep public school spending within appropriations, says an Ohio Education Association official.

T. G. O'Keefe, OEA executive secretary, expressed shock Thursday night over the policy and told a Port Clinton Education Association meeting:

"This in a sense is a breach of contract and boards of education who have been expecting monies in 1964 may find themselves wanting."

O'Keefe cited legislative action to make up past deficits in welfare and education programs and added:

"We will have to consider an annual session very seriously if the State Controlling Board is going to exercise legislative authority by cutting the school foundation program formula in order to save monies."

Many of Ohio's educational problems, he said, could be solved only through an improved financing program for schools from kindergarten through the 12th grade.

The Controlling Board recently coupled a pledge to make quarterly foundation payments with a plea for schools to live within the $510.5-million legislative appropriation for two years.

Education Supt. E. E. Holt followed up the board action with letters to public school officials. Holt promised prompt certification of the subsidy amounts each school district could expect from the foundation program.

Various state officials termed the action by Holt and the board as an unusual bid to prevent recurrent school subsidy deficits. These deficits totaled $2.5 million last year and $21 million in 1957. The officials said an $8 million deficit appeared likely this year without attempts to prevent over spending.

Couldn't Jail Him

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — The burglar was caught red-handed, but authorities couldn't haul him into court. The culprit was a squirrel who invaded the home of Jim Stewart while he was on vacation. A neighbor saw movements in the house and called police. By the time they arrived, the squirrel had already pulled down curtains and overturned several small objects.

Circleville, Ohio

TIGERS' HOPE — Howard Fletcher, Circleville High School's heavyweight wrestler, will compete tonight in the Central District tournament at Whitehall High School. Fletcher has won 15 matches this year and lost only one. He was the only Circleville wrestler to advance from the sectionals last weekend. He is a senior, weighing 203 pounds. Westerville's Ron Valentine will be his first opponent. Should he win tonight, he will meet the winner of the Wingo-Moore match. He has defeated Moore.

Frisco Dons Win Berth in NCAA Tourney

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Virtually unnoticed nationally the San Francisco Dons have won 16 straight games and a berth in the NCAA tournament that determines the national collegiate basketball champion.

What's so special about that? Well, it was just 10 years ago that the Dons got started on their record 90-game winning streak that led to two straight national championships. Maybe history will repeat.

Big Bill Russell, now the mainstay of the champion professional Boston Celtics, was the star for the Dons in those days. Currently it's Ollie Johnson, a 6-foot-8 junior from Washington D.C., who delights Coach Pete Peletta.

The Dons go for their 17th in a row against Pepperdine tonight in one of the top games on an attractive Friday night program.

Unbeaten UCLA, top-ranked in The Associated Press poll, shoots for its 26th straight against Southern California, fourth-ranked Duke battles North Carolina in the semifinals of the ACC championship tourney and fifth-ranked Wichita meets Drake in a playoff to decide the Missouri Valley Conference representative in the NCAA.

Bowling Green's 89-80 upset of eighth-ranked DePaul and Duke's 75-44 trouncing of North Carolina State in the first round of the ACC tourney highlighted Thursday night's action.

Howard (Butch) Komives, the nation's leading scorer, threw in 47 points against DePaul including 17 of 17 from the foul line that upped his consecutive free throw streak to 42. The Blue Demons, NIT-bound, at one time in the second half trailed by 17 points.

Jay Buckley, with 21 points led the Duke romp. In the first round ACC games Wake Forest drubbed Virginia 79-60, North Carolina defeated South Carolina 80-63 and Clemson mauled Maryland 81-67.

Champion Texas A&M closed its SWC campaign with a 13-1 mark by nipping Texas 65-63 after Jim Bob Smith of the Longhorns had missed four straight free throws in the last 10 seconds.

New Mexico stayed in the running for the WAC crown by defeating Brigham Young 84-80 and unpredictable NYU rebounded after its Tuesday's defeat to little Rider College by whipping Fordham 74-69.

In other games Wyoming beat Utah 92-77, Rice downed SMU 97-90, Texas Tech took Baylor 96-82, Arkansas walloped TCU 108-77, Seton Hall humbled Uvala 102-77 and Idaho State crushed Montana 111-88 behind Art Crump's 41 points.

Royals Eager For Playoffs

CINCINNATI (AP) — From Coach Jack McMahon on down the Cincinnati Royals feel they can be the next National Basketball Association champions.

The Royals have been on the heels of the first place Boston Celtics in the Eastern Division all season, and although there's little hope of catching them for the division title McMahon is getting ready for the playoffs.

"We have proven to everyone that we are capable of beating them," beamed McMahon after the Royals pounded the Celtics for a 111-101 victory Thursday night to become the only club to take the season series from Boston.

Cincinnati has defeated Boston seven times while losing five.

In other games Thursday night, Detroit whipped Baltimore 125-120 at Marion, Ind., and St. Louis edged San Francisco 104-102 on the West Coast. Bailey Howell scored 25 points in the Detroit victory, making him the No. 1 scorer in Piston history. He now has 7,976 points to surpass Gene Shue's former mark of 7,964.

The St. Louis triumph enabled the Hawks to move one game behind the Warriors, who lead the Western Division. Each team has seven games left.

The Royals poured in 37 points in a hot third period, and despite the loss of Wayne Embry and Jerry Lucas on fouls late in the game, Boston could not catch up.

The Royals took the lead with 8:10 left in the first quarter and never were behind after that.

Bob Pettit, playing with a jammed thumb, converted four free throws in the last 43 seconds in sparking St. Louis to an uphill victory over San Francisco. The Warriors led 102-99 with one minute left when John Barnhill sank a free throw and Pettit, who wound up with 21 points hit his four foul shots.

Stengel Leads His Mets On Invasion of Mexico

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Casey Stengel and his adventurous New York Mets are in Mexico in what may be the wildest invasion there since Gen. John Pershing went looking for Pancho Villa 48 years ago.

Stengel, though, hopes his forces come out of it a little better than Pershing's. Several of the general's 12,000 troops were killed, and they never did capture Villa.

The Mets certainly are in a bad enough way that they can't afford to lose any of the 24 players and officials who arrived in Mexico City Thursday night. They also are looking forward to conquering the Mexico City teams they play in a series of three exhibition games starting tonight.

New York, of course, has a secret weapon going for it — Casey's mouth — if you can call that secret.

Still, the Mets face numerous hazards, more, it seems, than Pershing's expeditionary forces did.

According to mimeographed plans, the Mets were warned to "drink nothing but bottled water. Whenever you have a mixed drink, soft or otherwise, make sure that the ice cubes are made of bottled water."

Pershing undoubtedly didn't have the luxury of bottled water, but he also certainly wasn't faced with some of the other dangers confronting New York.

"Mexican fans are ardent baseball souvenir hunters," the Mets were advised. "Hold on to your hats and everything else you may have, particularly when leaving the ball park."

"The team will dress at the Hotel Alameda, where it will be staying, and go to the ball park in uniform. All equipment will be brought back to the hotel after each game and will be placed under lock and key."

No sooner had the Mets arrived in Mexico City than Stengel experienced what he was in for. Some 300 persons enthusiastically greeted the team at the airport. The welcoming committee, or the advance force, became so enthusiastic that police had to rescue Casey from the midst of a group of them.

Wolf Named Local Chairman Of National Wildlife Week

Robert Wolf, 231 E. Mound St. has been named local chairman to direct the 1964 National Wildlife Week observance in Pickaway County.

The National Wildlife Federation is sponsoring this annual conservation education project during the period of Mar. 15 - 21, and throughout 1964.

This year the theme will be "America Needs Outdoor Recreation — Act Now To Provide for the Future."

Positive steps can be taken by citizens and government agencies on the local, state and national level to plan for the establishment of adequate outdoor recreation facilities, according to Wolf.

tions interested in cooperating in an effort to encourage all citizens to learn what they can do to provide outdoor recreation needs for the future are urged to contact Tom Winemiller of Ashland, the state chairman of Wildlife Week or Wolf for further information.

National Wildlife Week is held each year during the week in which the first day of spring occurs. It was first proclaimed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1933.

Since that time, Wildlife Week has served as an important function to focus public attention on the importance of natural resource conservation and issues.

"We have proven to everyone that we are capable of beating them," beamed McMahon after the Royals pounded the Celtics for a 111-101 victory Thursday night to become the only club to take the season series from Boston.

Cincinnati has defeated Boston seven times while losing five.

In other games Thursday night, Detroit whipped Baltimore 125-120 at Marion, Ind., and St. Louis edged San Francisco 104-102 on the West Coast. Bailey Howell scored 25 points in the Detroit victory, making him the No. 1 scorer in Piston history. He now has 7,976 points to surpass Gene Shue's former mark of 7,964.

The St. Louis triumph enabled the Hawks to move one game behind the Warriors, who lead the Western Division. Each team has seven games left.

The Royals poured in 37 points in a hot third period, and despite the loss of Wayne Embry and Jerry Lucas on fouls late in the game, Boston could not catch up.

The Royals took the lead with 8:10 left in the first quarter and never were behind after that.

Bob Pettit, playing with a jammed thumb, converted four free throws in the last 43 seconds in sparking St. Louis to an uphill victory over San Francisco. The Warriors led 102-99 with one minute left when John Barnhill sank a free throw and Pettit, who wound up with 21 points hit his four foul shots.

Stengel Leads His Mets On Invasion of Mexico

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Casey Stengel and his adventurous New York Mets are in Mexico in what may be the wildest invasion there since Gen. John Pershing went looking for Pancho Villa 48 years ago.

Stengel, though, hopes his forces come out of it a little better than Pershing's. Several of the general's 12,000 troops were killed, and they never did capture Villa.

The Mets certainly are in a bad enough way that they can't afford to lose any of the 24 players and officials who arrived in Mexico City Thursday night. They also are looking forward to conquering the Mexico City teams they play in a series of three exhibition games starting tonight.

New York, of course, has a secret weapon going for it — Casey's mouth — if you can call that secret.

Still, the Mets face numerous hazards, more, it seems, than Pershing's expeditionary forces did.

Mrs. Walter Temple and children

In Memoriam

In loving remembrance of our mother, Linda Tomlinson, who passed away one year ago today, March 6, 1963.
When we're alone we often think of an old house upon a hill.
Of a big yard hedged in roses
Where we ran and played at will.
And when the night time brought us home hunting for merry din
Mother would look around and ask
Are all the children in Well it's been a year now and the old house on the hill
No longer has our mother's care
And the yard is still, so still
But if we listen we can hear it all no matter how long it's been,
We seem to hear our mother ask
Are all the children in
And we wonder when the curtain falls on that last earthly day
When we say goodbye to all of this
To our pain and work and play
When we step across the river where mother has been
We hear her ask the final time
Are all the children in
Sadly missed by her children.

Holcomb Trial Results in Guilty Finding

A Fairfield County jury yesterday found Robert C. Holcomb, Chillicothe, guilty of assault with intent to rob. Holcomb was charged by Sheriff Jack Blazer in connection with the near fatal shooting and aborted robbery attempt last October on George Justus who operates a general store just east of the Pickaway - Fairfield County line. The jury returned the verdict after seven hours and 20 minutes of deliberation. During the trial, which started Monday, eight witnesses for the prosecution and 14 for the defense were heard. Pickaway County Sheriff Walton Spangler was a prosecution witness. He questioned Justus at Berger Hospital immediately after the shooting.

NO DATE has yet been set for sentencing. The charge on which Holcomb was found guilty carries a sentence of 1-15 years in the penitentiary. Fred Greeno of Stoutsville, also involved in the incident, has not yet been scheduled to appear in court. Both men were indicted by the January term of the Fairfield County Grand Jury.

A juvenile also believed involved in being held by Fairfield County juvenile authorities. Justus remained in "critical" condition at University Hospital several days after the shooting. He has since recovered.

Jaycees Extend Recognition Plaques to Two Local Firms

Recognition and appreciation were extended to two firms last night when the Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce met for a regular session at the Morris Restaurant on Route 23. Inscribed recognition plaques went to the Risch Drug Store and The Circleville Herald. Present to receive the awards were Robert McKelvey of the Risch Store and Paul Smallwood of The Herald. The plaques, presented by Jaycees president Charles Allton, cited both firms for their cordial relationship with the Junior Chamber in promoting civic and national welfare. Allton said the awards represent the Jaycees' way of expressing gratitude for such a combined effort. The evening session was highlighted by two surprise events. One was a visit from representatives of the "High Fever Folies" which will be presented here this month under sponsorship of the Berger Hospital General Guild. The other was an appearance by several members of the Hillsboro Jaycees.

Many Dignitaries Present For New Ag-Center Opening

A host of prominent state, business and industry delegates was on hand for yesterday's grand opening of the Olin Ag-Center in Atlanta.

A free ex-roast dinner, awards, demonstrations and displays of farm machinery highlighted the day's program. Featuring the afternoon activity were fashion and flower and design shows.

Representing the state at the opening were John Stackhouse, director of agriculture; Fred Mohr, director of the Department of Natural Resources; Warren Nelson, director of highway safety; and Don Cook, head of the Liquor Department.

Bill Copeland, vice president of sales, and R. M. Morehead, regional sales manager, represented the Olin manufacturing firm.

MASSEY - FERGUSON farm machinery representatives were John Stack of Toronto, U. S. Sales manager; James Balthaser of Chicago, regional finance director; and Lowell Brooks of Columbus, district manager.

Ray Rowland of St. Louis, president of the Ralston Purina Co., also made the trip here. Herbert Morris, vice president in charge of sales for Purina, also was present.

Rowland formerly managed the Ralston Purina plant in Circleville. He made his home here prior to moving up the company ladder.

Cobey Manufacturing was represented by Neil Nash of Gallon, salesman.

Local representatives included T. David Harmon of the First National Bank. He was accompanied by several officials from the Huntington National Bank.

The evening session was highlighted by two surprise events. One was a visit from representatives of the "High Fever Folies" which will be presented here this month under sponsorship of the Berger Hospital General Guild. The other was an appearance by several members of the Hillsboro Jaycees.

THE "FOLLIES" representatives were Bruce Craig, an associate director for the Mar. 20-21 production here, and two lovely members of the cast. Tickets were made available for purchase and Craig voiced the need for additional talent.

The plaques, presented by Jaycees president Charles Allton, cited both firms for their cordial relationship with the Junior Chamber in promoting civic and national welfare. Allton said the awards represent the Jaycees' way of expressing gratitude for such a combined effort.

The Jaycees also adopted a motion to continue a study on a possible fluoridation program for the city water system.

Jaycees Extend Recognition Plaques to Two Local Firms

Recognition and appreciation were extended to two firms last night when the Circleville Junior Chamber of Commerce met for a regular session at the Morris Restaurant on Route 23.

Inscribed recognition plaques went to the Risch Drug Store and The Circleville Herald. Present to receive the awards were Robert McKelvey of the Risch Store and Paul Smallwood of The Herald.
